AMALAYA

2009

"The last Argentinean wine I'll mention in this column wasn't tasted on my tour. However, this was frankly one of the best samples I've received all year at its price point. Amalaya's Red Wine from Calchaqui boasted roasted coffee, blackberry and red cherry on the nose, while bright strawberry and black pepper and raspberry helped focus the long, deep, dark, chocolaty finish. A very fair price rounds off this exceptional value."
