Bodega Colomé Reserva Malbec 2008

94 Points

("One of Argentina's Best Wines")

"The 2008 Reserva Malbec (100%) was sourced from the estate's 60- to 150-year-old pre-phylloxera, biodynamically farmed vineyard. It went through malolactic in new oak, where it remained for the rest of its élevage. It is a glass-coating opaque purple color, with a brooding bouquet of toasty oak, mineral, exotic spices, incense, black cherry, and black currant. Dense, velvety-textured, and suave, it deftly melds elegance and power in a wine that will easily achieve its 20th birthday in peak form."
