

San Francisco Chronicle

August 5, 2011

Sequana Santa Lucia Highlands Pinot Noir

2009

“Over the past half dozen years, Monterey County's Santa Lucia Highlands has established itself as an important Pinot Noir appellation... Santa Lucia Highlands Pinots are typically deeply colored with plenty of fruit and tend to be weightier, more muscular examples of what this grape can become.”

“This is the third Sequana vintage for winemaker James MacPhail, who produces solely Pinot Noir under this Hess Collection-owned label. Cherry, a hint of bacon and tobacco leaf aromas with strawberry, cherry and tart rhubarb on the palate. A leaner style with pretty acidity.”

-- Lynne Char Bennett